THE ACCOLADE

Published by the Senior Class
St. Francis De Sales High School
2323 West Bancroft Street
Toledo 7, Ohio

DEDICATED TO

The striking figure of our patron and model, St. Francis de Sales, impresses itself on the face of our school building. Cut in white marble, the features of this scholar saint bespeak the combination of sanctity, learning and refinement which molded his masculine character. Facing on Bancroft Street in Toledo, Ohio, it makes an eloquent memorial to a man who died at Lyons, France, in 1622. Our school is far removed from the time and place of St. Francis de Sales, but the city of Toledo has felt his influence in a marked degree. The first cathedral was named in his honor and he remains the secondary patron of this diocese. The spiritual life of this community has been enriched immeasurably by the foundation here in 1917 of the nearby Monastery of the Visitation of Holy Mary, the great order established by the saint himself at Annecy, France, in 1610. Our religious faculty, the Oblates of St. Francis de Sales, are committed to the mission of spreading the spirit of St. Francis de Sales in the modern world.

The class of 1960 is the third group of graduates to leave our school. Surrounded as we have been with the memories of St. Francis de Sales, we offer this Accolade as further tribute to his honor. As his statue is seen impressed upon our school, so his spirit has been impressed upon our lives. Imitating the virtue and talent which distinguished him presents a staggering challenge, even to one blessed with maturity of years and judgement. To suggest such a model to young men struggling with the complexities of adolescence and young adulthood, not to mention the acquisition of knowledge, may seem an unreal idealism. We are ready to admit that our resemblance to our illustrious patron is only the barest shadow, but, slight though it may be, it serves to grant us membership in the Salesian family. Family pride, even on the spiritual plane, is a compelling force, and, emboldened by it, we presume to identify ourselves with St. Francis de Sales. In our book, we have tried to show how that identity came about. It is our earnest prayer that, with our combined efforts, we may cause the figure of St. Francis de Sales to come to life.

The saint of our school and its religious faculty dates from another century and another world. Francis de Sales was born at the castle of Sales, near Thorens in the French province of Savoy in 1567. His was a noble family and name, and Francis was the first-born son. His early life followed the pattern of the time for the wealthy and his education was in charge of a clerical tutor. At about the age of thirteen, Francis enrolled at the College of Clermont in Paris, conducted by the Jesuit Fathers. The studies here stressed the humanities and philosophy

Always of a spiritual frame of mind, he suffered, even as a youth, the torment of soul that seems the mark of chosen servants of God. When he was about seventeen, a violent temptation to despair seized him, oppressing him to the point of a serious breakdown in health. With persevering prayer, especially the Memorare of Our Lady, he succeeded in throwing over the assault on his faith. It should be mentioned that, with prayer, Francis devoted himself to an earnest study of the theological and philosophical questions of predestination, and the solutions he found there contributed amply to his conquest of this temptation. Devotion, simple and sincere combined with the full exercise of whatever natural talents possessed, would become a feature of his spiritual teaching.

From 1588 until 1592, Francis studied law and theology at the University of Padua, receiving the doctor's degree with distinguished honors. Upon returning to Savoy, he received the equivalent of admission to the bar association when he became an advocate before the senate of Chambery. At this point, Francis made known his desire to follow the priestly vocation. To a father who saw his talented eldest son endowed so richly with qualities promising honor and prestige for the family name, the thought of sacrificing him to the church was repugnant. But Francis' determination held firm, and he received his father's permission to accept major orders. His ordination to the priesthood took place on December 18, 1593 at Annecy.

Answering a call from his Bishop to attempt to re-establish the practice of the faith in the Chablais, a district given over to Calvinism, Francis spent four difficult, dangerous but, ultimately highly successful years in preaching the truth of Catholicism. During this time, he composed the tracts — short explanations of various points of Catholic teaching — which were later compiled into the "Controversies, and the Defense of the standard of the Holy Cross." These writings later earned for him the title, "Patron of the Catholic Press." His mission to the Chablais resulted in the conversion of some 70,000 souls

In 1599, undoubtedly as a result of his spectacular success in preaching the faith, Francis was called to Rome by Pope Clement VIII and named coadjutor bishop of Geneva, and succeeded to that see in December,

Christ in our modern world. An outstanding contribution to the search for sanctity is the classic "Treatise on the Love of God."

The gem in this spiritual treasury is, however, the small volume entitled the "Introduction to the Devout Life." In this work, St. Francis demonstrates, with admirable clarity the thought and charm of language, the need for devotion — sanctity — in the life and activity of ordinary people. He attacks vigorously the mistaken and dangerous notion that a holy way of living belongs only to those who follow a religious vocation, and explains graphically how sanctity can become the practice of everyone, regardless of his station. Besides the writings mentioned before, the bulk of the remainder consists of letters, on the same devotional theme, to people, religious and lay, on every social level

The faculty of St. Francis, the Oblates of St. Francis de Sales, were founded in 1872 at Troyes, France, through the instigation of the Venerable Mother Mary de Sales Chappuis, a Visitandine, and Father Louis Brisson. Their particular mission is to lead souls to Christ through the teaching and method of St. Francis de Sales. According to their Rule, the Oblates must practice the Spiritual Directory, the interior way of life employed by St. Francis himself. They devote themselves particularly to the education of young men, although their work includes every type of priestly activity. Of the many religious families established under the influence of St. Francis de Sales, the Oblates reflect most completely his manner of life work. The few points presented so inadequately here will give some indication of the genius and sanctity of the spiritual giant who is our patron. For the religious dedicated to living according to his spirit, he remains an infallible guide to the imitation of Our Divine Lord. For the young men for whom he is model, St. Francis de Sales represents the proper combination of grace united with an ennobling nature which will fit them for the living of a successful Christian life. His death at Lyons, France, in 1622, marked only the end of his physical life. His spirit lives in the countless souls who have felt his influence.

GROWTH IN SPIRITUAL AND INTELLECTUAL STATURE

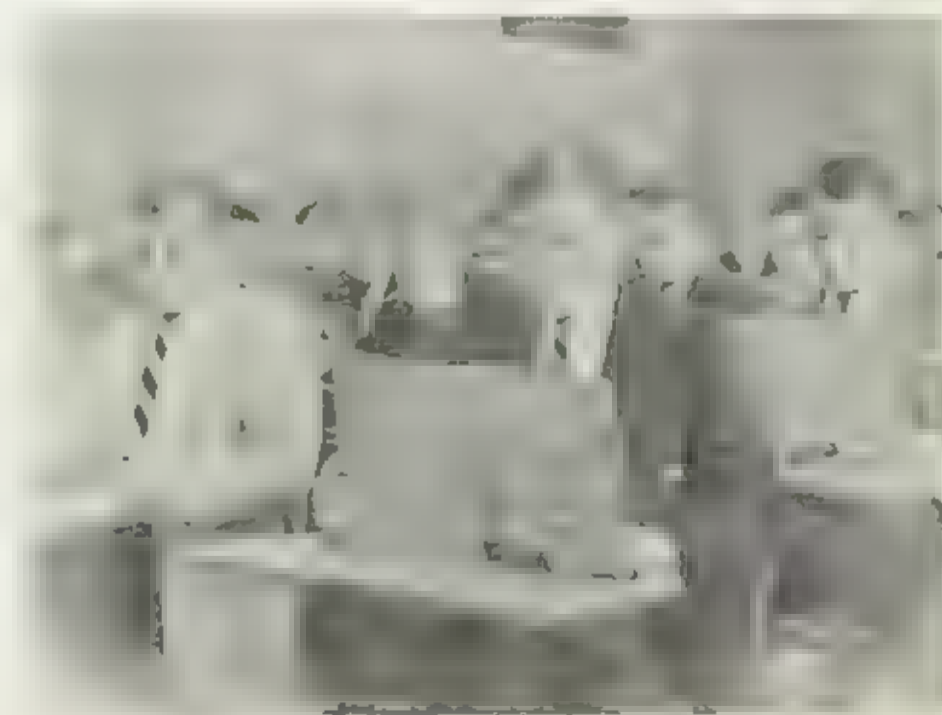

As a teenager, St. Francis de Sales studied the humanities and philosophy at the Jesuit College of Clermont in Paris. He distinguished himself for excellence in studies and a becoming piety in his personal life.

Fourth year Latin scholars wonder if they will get their togas in June

The education we receive in high school is a stepping stone toward future success. Under the guidance of the Oblates of St. Francis de Sales, we are given the key to higher learning in college and we are prepared to accept our vocation in life. This learning helps us develop intellectually, spiritually, socially and physically.

Most important of these studies is Religion, necessary for the proper viewpoint on life and to help us reach our eternal goal. Language is strongly stressed. Everyone takes four years of English, and at least two years of Latin, along with French or German. So that we may gain a better understanding of man, his customs and habits, history and social studies are required of every student. In this age of technical progress, the sciences are not neglected. We study Biology, Chemistry, and Physics. A four year program in Mathematics trains us in thinking and accuracy.

With this training and background, we have an obligation to increase the talents God has given us. Through St. Francis, we have been set on the straight path. When we leave and continue on our own, we have the responsibility and ability to advance ourselves.

Benediction closes out a full school day

DAYS OF DEVOTION

A group of Seniors at their weekly mass take advantage of this opportunity

Just as St. Francis de Sales realized that the spiritual side of man was of the utmost importance during our life here on earth, so we become aware of this fact during our stay at St. Francis. Not only are the essential truths of our religion taught to us during our daily religion classes, but we all attend a weekly mass in our chapel. Frequent confessions are also encouraged and this sacrament is administered daily by the members of the faculty. Also daily Mass is celebrated in the Chapel. During the months of May and October the school day is closed by Benediction in honor of Our Lady.

In addition to these regular religious activities we are honored by numerous special events. This year a special requiem mass was celebrated in memory of Fr. Palmer in October. December brought us the visit of Bishop Schlatterback of South Africa who celebrated a Low Pontifical Mass in the auditorium, and January was remembered for the annual Solemn Mass in honor of St. Francis.

This basic spiritual training prepares us for the day when we will leave St. Francis and will need a sound foundation upon which to build our lives. It enables us to put everything which we come in contact with into its proper place in regard to our eternal salvation.

The annual retreat crowns the school year. Held during the solemn and sacred season of Holy Week, it gives us a chance to take a spiritual inventory of our lives.

Frequent conferences held in the auditorium, spiritual reading, confessions, daily Mass and Communion climaxed by Benediction fill out the Retreat Schedule. The unique custom of reciting the Rosary in the halls during the Retreat is, like all other activities, done in silence so that we will be able to listen to the voice of God.

This year our Retreat was given by the Rev. John Heckel, O.S.F.S., of St. Anthony's Church, Wilmington, Delaware.

Daily Mass is an important part of Retreat

Benediction brings each retreat day to a fitting close

DAYS OF SILENCE

The Biology lab forms a backdrop for student spiritual reading

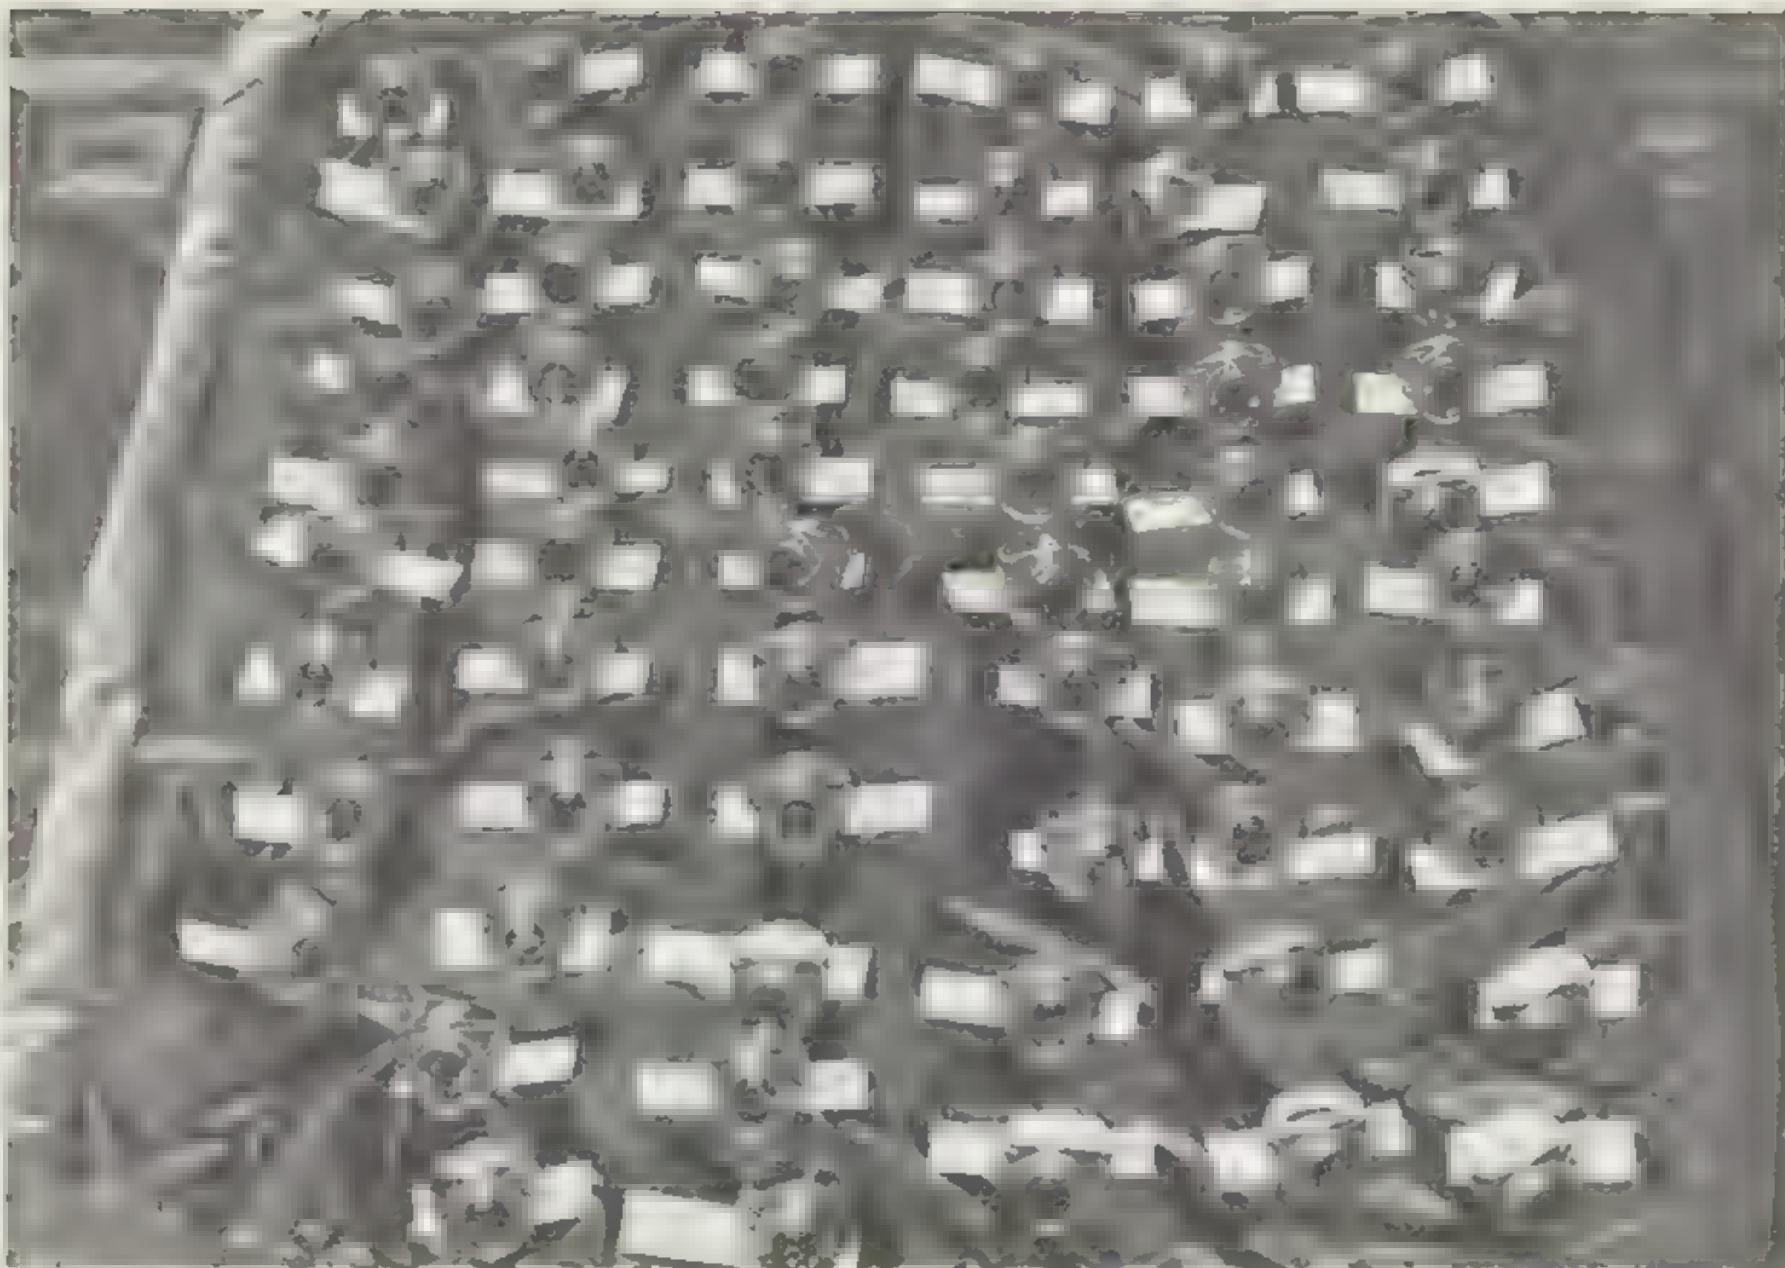

"This is the day which the Lord hath made, let us rejoice and be glad in it."

DAYS OF JOY

As we approach the beginning of the end, our senior activities are centered around the altar. In October the Seniors receive their blessed rings at the annual Ring Ceremony held after Mass in the Chapel. Then they have breakfast with their mothers, the honored guests. These rings are a symbol of the lasting bond between the student and the Salesian Family.

The final goal is reached with graduation. We were honored this year to have His Grace, The Most Reverend Karl J. Alter D.D., Archbishop of Cincinnati, celebrate the Baccalaureate Mass, the spiritual part of commencement, at Gesu Church. Then we receive our diplomas from the hands of His Excellency, the Most Reverend George J. Rehring, S.T.D., Bishop of Toledo and our spiritual head.

GROWTH IN PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT

As a young man, St. Francis became expert in the arts of riding and fencing. In his writings he frequently referred to the benefits of athletics, mentioning tennis, field events and boating.

On August twentieth during one of the fiercest heat waves, a large group of eager young Knights began their hard practices. Mr. Recker, Mr. Mattingly, and Mr. Vigh, along with the two new assistant coaches, Mr. Minarcin and Mr. Mouch, molded this group into the finest football team St. Francis has ever had. The varsity Knights compiled a record of eight victories and one defeat to be eleventh in the state.

The only loss of the season came in the first game at the hands of the city champion DeVilbiss Tigers. In losing 14-0, St. Francis gave DeVilbiss their toughest battle all season. After thumping an outclassed Bedford team, the Knights moved to the friendly confines of the Glass Bowl in which they have not lost a game since the middle of the 1956 season. There they met a reportedly tough Rogers team. Reputation meant little as our varsity humbled the Rams for the third straight year. The Knights then journeyed to Dayton Chaminade for their next victory which was won by a scant margin of three points. Back home again our team steamrolled a hapless Defiance team and out-mudded a scrappy Lima Central Catholic squad for their fourth and fifth consecutive victories. The Knights had little trouble disposing of Sylvania Burnham the week before the "big" game. On November 8 before a homecoming crowd of 10,000, St. Francis proved to the city of Toledo that it is definitely a football power. They soundly beat the Irish of Central Catholic. The varsity closed out its highly successful season by defeating Tiffin Colvert in a sea of mud at the Glass Bowl.

Popular coach Bobby Recker has led the Knights to twenty six victories in four years.

Intramurals

The intramural program directed by Fr. Sottek supplies the physical part of the education of the whole man — the Salesian education. It enables those who do not have the qualifications for varsity sports to participate in athletics. A program is offered in chess, football, bowling, softball, track, basketball, golf, and even table tennis. A keen spirit of competition permeates these activities and enables us to learn to cooperate with other people.

COLOR DAY

Each year Student Council encourages the sections to vie with each other in decorating their prefect rooms so that their support for the basketball team is shown. Before the Class AA Tournament a rally was held in conjunction with the festivities which saw Sophomore Four and Father Dean walk away with the prize. The halls and cafeteria were catered for by the representatives of each class so that the entire school was bedazzled. The day was closed with Father Hermley's stirring speech.

GROWTH IN CULTURAL HABITS

As a prelate, St. Francis de Sales recognized the need for relaxing and refreshing the mind through constructive interests in the arts.

Kind Lady

The St. Francis dramatic season began this year with a mystery play entitled "Kind Lady". The prologue to the play gives a hint of coming events. The action was closely followed from the moment the curtain rose. The story opens in a jovial mood and then slowly but surely, that mood is changed to one of horror as crime becomes more and more obvious. Mary Herries is taken prisoner in her own home. Her salvation after years of capture brought cheers from the spectators. The capable directing of Father Dean made the play a memorable success.

VARIETY

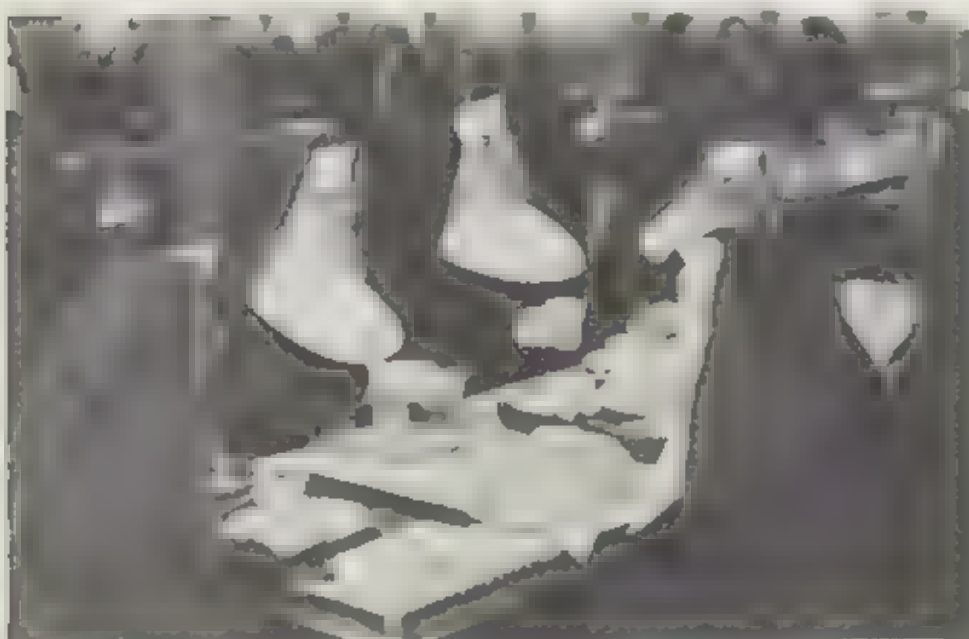

Among the many activities at St. Francis are some which defy an effort to classify them. Such things as class meetings, the jammed book store or the 2:30 "exodus" cannot really be placed in any particular section.

For this reason we have placed them on a special page. They are a chronicle of the ordinary, common occurrences which are such an integral part of school life.

Strike up the band!

In early May last year, a small but enthusiastic group of students, under the direction of Mr. Edward Zapletal, formed the nucleus of a new organization at St. Francis, a drum and bugle corps. We believe this is the only such high school group in the city. Serious practice began after the final examinations in June. Twenty-four bugles and twelve drums were distributed among the new members at the first meeting. After the election of officers, several decisions were made. The corps would take the name, "The Marching Knights of St. Francis," wear the red and blue colors of the school, and use as its theme, "When the Knights Go Marching In." Many of the members had no previous musical experience, and Mr. Zapletal energetically devoted himself to instructing them on the bugle. Mr. William Ensign taught the drummers, and Father Paul Gulespie drilled the color guard. Practices soon increased to four times weekly, — the whole neighborhood was getting to know the marching Knights and their theme song — in order to be ready for the initial appearance at the football premier. These practices involved much sacrifice of time and recreation during the summer evenings.

In September, Father James Welsh became the faculty moderator of the corps. A new dance band, the Mid-Knights, performed at a Thanksgiving dance sponsored by the corps to honor the football team. Later, some new equipment and many new members were added, and an orchestra was formed. In its short existence, the drum and bugle corps has become one of the most active groups in the school, and now enjoys a membership of about sixty. In all its appearances, it has won respect and deserved praise for itself. It is here to stay and St. Francis is proud of its Marching Knights.

On the night of January 15, 1960, the gym was transformed into a mountain ski lodge as the seniors held their prom, "Fantasy in Frost" under the direction of Bill Pawlecki. A rustic wooden bridge led across a swift mountain stream and into the lodge shimmering in the light of many candles. The cool air was warmed by a fireplace and sledding was available for all. P. Harshman, C. Matuszynski, P. Butler, R. Williams, P. Mahoney, M. Wenzler, P. Dooley and D. Webb are to be congratulated for the fine job which they did in making the prom a memorable success.

Fr. Healy and Jeff Burch lead the Junior Council on World Affairs

Activities at St. Francis play an important part in the social program. Student Council presents an opportunity for students to express their ideas concerning school government. It also directs the planning of Homecoming Festivities, Color Day, and a number of dances throughout the year. Monthly meetings give members the chance to practice tact and parliamentary procedure.

The Junior Council on World Affairs exposes our students to current problems. Their meetings are designed to increase interest and general knowledge about world-wide topics.

Probably, the most popular part of Student Council's program are the dances under their guidance. We began our social program with the "Varsity Swing" at which the football players were our honored guests. A good representation from the alumni returned to help celebrate Homecoming at the "Irish-Knight" dance. Seniors from Central Catholic were also invited. Over two hundred enthusiastic couples attended the New Year's Eve frolic "As Time Goes By." The faculty and mothers of students aided the beginning of 1960 by preparing a breakfast after this dance. The Annual Mission Dance, this year "Cupid's Capers," was sponsored by the Sophomore Class. This dance and accompanying "White Elephant" auction resulted in a substantial contribution to the missions. Student Council sees that the school term is ended happily by presenting another dance in the spring.

MEN OF THE YEAR

Gregory Oswald,

Laurence Jankowski

The class of 1960 presents here for particular recognition some of its members who have distinguished themselves scholastically and in other areas of school life. In various ways, some less obviously but no less importantly, they have provided a balance of leadership on the curricular and extra-curricular level. GERALD KAKOS, besides being a member of the varsity basketball team for two years, holds one of the highest general averages in the senior class. JOHN COYLE is another varsity basketball player who ranks among the highest in the class scholastically. Another of his decided advantages is the ability to keep a golden silence. Since his freshman year, JOHN MICHAELS has held the position of the number one scholar in his class consistently. He also found time for active participation in many other school functions, such as dramatics, debating, and serving as co-editor of the ACCOLADE. EDWARD NALODKA also stands among the better scholars. His particular strength lay in the sciences and mathematics. Ed was also a member of the school traffic squad for three years. As a freshman, PAUL HARSHMAN was chosen by his classmates as their president, and, since that time, has served the school and his class capably and unselfishly. He has maintained an honors average while being the only student to receive a four year varsity award in football. He served in the Student Council for four years, and became president as a senior, at which time he was also co-captain of the football team. Well done, Paul. THOMAS WALINSKI found a place among the top students in the class. He was class president during his sophomore and junior years, and held the position of football quarterback for two years, as well as playing varsity basketball and golf. WILLIAM PAWLECKI, as president of the senior class, has performed well in a responsible position. Along with his duties as president, Bill was a consistently good student, and played varsity football and baseball. DENNIS CHOJNACKI is perhaps the most quiet and most industrious student in the class of 1960, and both qualities earned for him the position of number two scholar. He also helped on the ACCOLADE staff. GREGORY OSWALD is known as a good student, but less known for skilled and consistent service on the stage crew. During his four years, he has provided excellent assistance in this important area of the dramatics department. LAURENCE JANKOWSKI is another high calibre student with a record of laborious service. Larry worked faithfully throughout his four years in the chapel and sacristy making thereby a quiet demonstration of genuine school spirit. Absent on school business when this picture was taken was FRANCIS THOMPSON. Frank rated a high place as a scholar, as well as playing an active part in many school activities. He participated in football and wrestling, portrayed several roles on the dramatic level, and became vice-president of Student Council in his senior year. The students listed here represent a cross section of the class of 1960. They have received special mention because it is felt that the combination of ability and achievement should be recognized.

In this, the Accolade of 1960, we have tried to illustrate our growth in the spirit of St. Francis de Sales. As Knights of St. Francis we have matured and advanced physically, educationally and spiritually through the processes of knighthood. This, the Accolade, is the culmination of our knighthood, the final step in our educational journey in these halls which have come to mean so much to us.

The plethora of jubilant visages above has compiled this pictorial record. Seated next to our Moderator, Fr. McNamara, are Chris Beins and John Michaels, our co-editors. They were responsible for the editing which must be done in a work such as this and the other sundry details, to say nothing of the staff's motto, 'Si non primum succedis, ad infernum eat' which also is their dubious contribution. J. Chris, who prepared the copy for the scholastic and candid sections and most of the layouts, always enlivened the long afternoons with his caustic quips. While selecting and cropping various photographs, John prepared the copy for the religious, activities, and social pages, and he saw to it that the office was filled with enjoyable music.

Perry Butler and Chuck Matuszynski evolved the sports section. Under their guidance the vivid memories of our football season came to life once again, along with the remainder of the interscholastic activities.

They were ably assisted by Bill Albe, the Jersey muscleman, who rendered the wrestling page.

Blair Bolles took care of the Thespian section of our book with the help of Mr. Edward McWhorter to whom we are greatly indebted.

The Van Gogh of our group, Fred Leonard, designed the sketches which complement the dignity of our seniors.

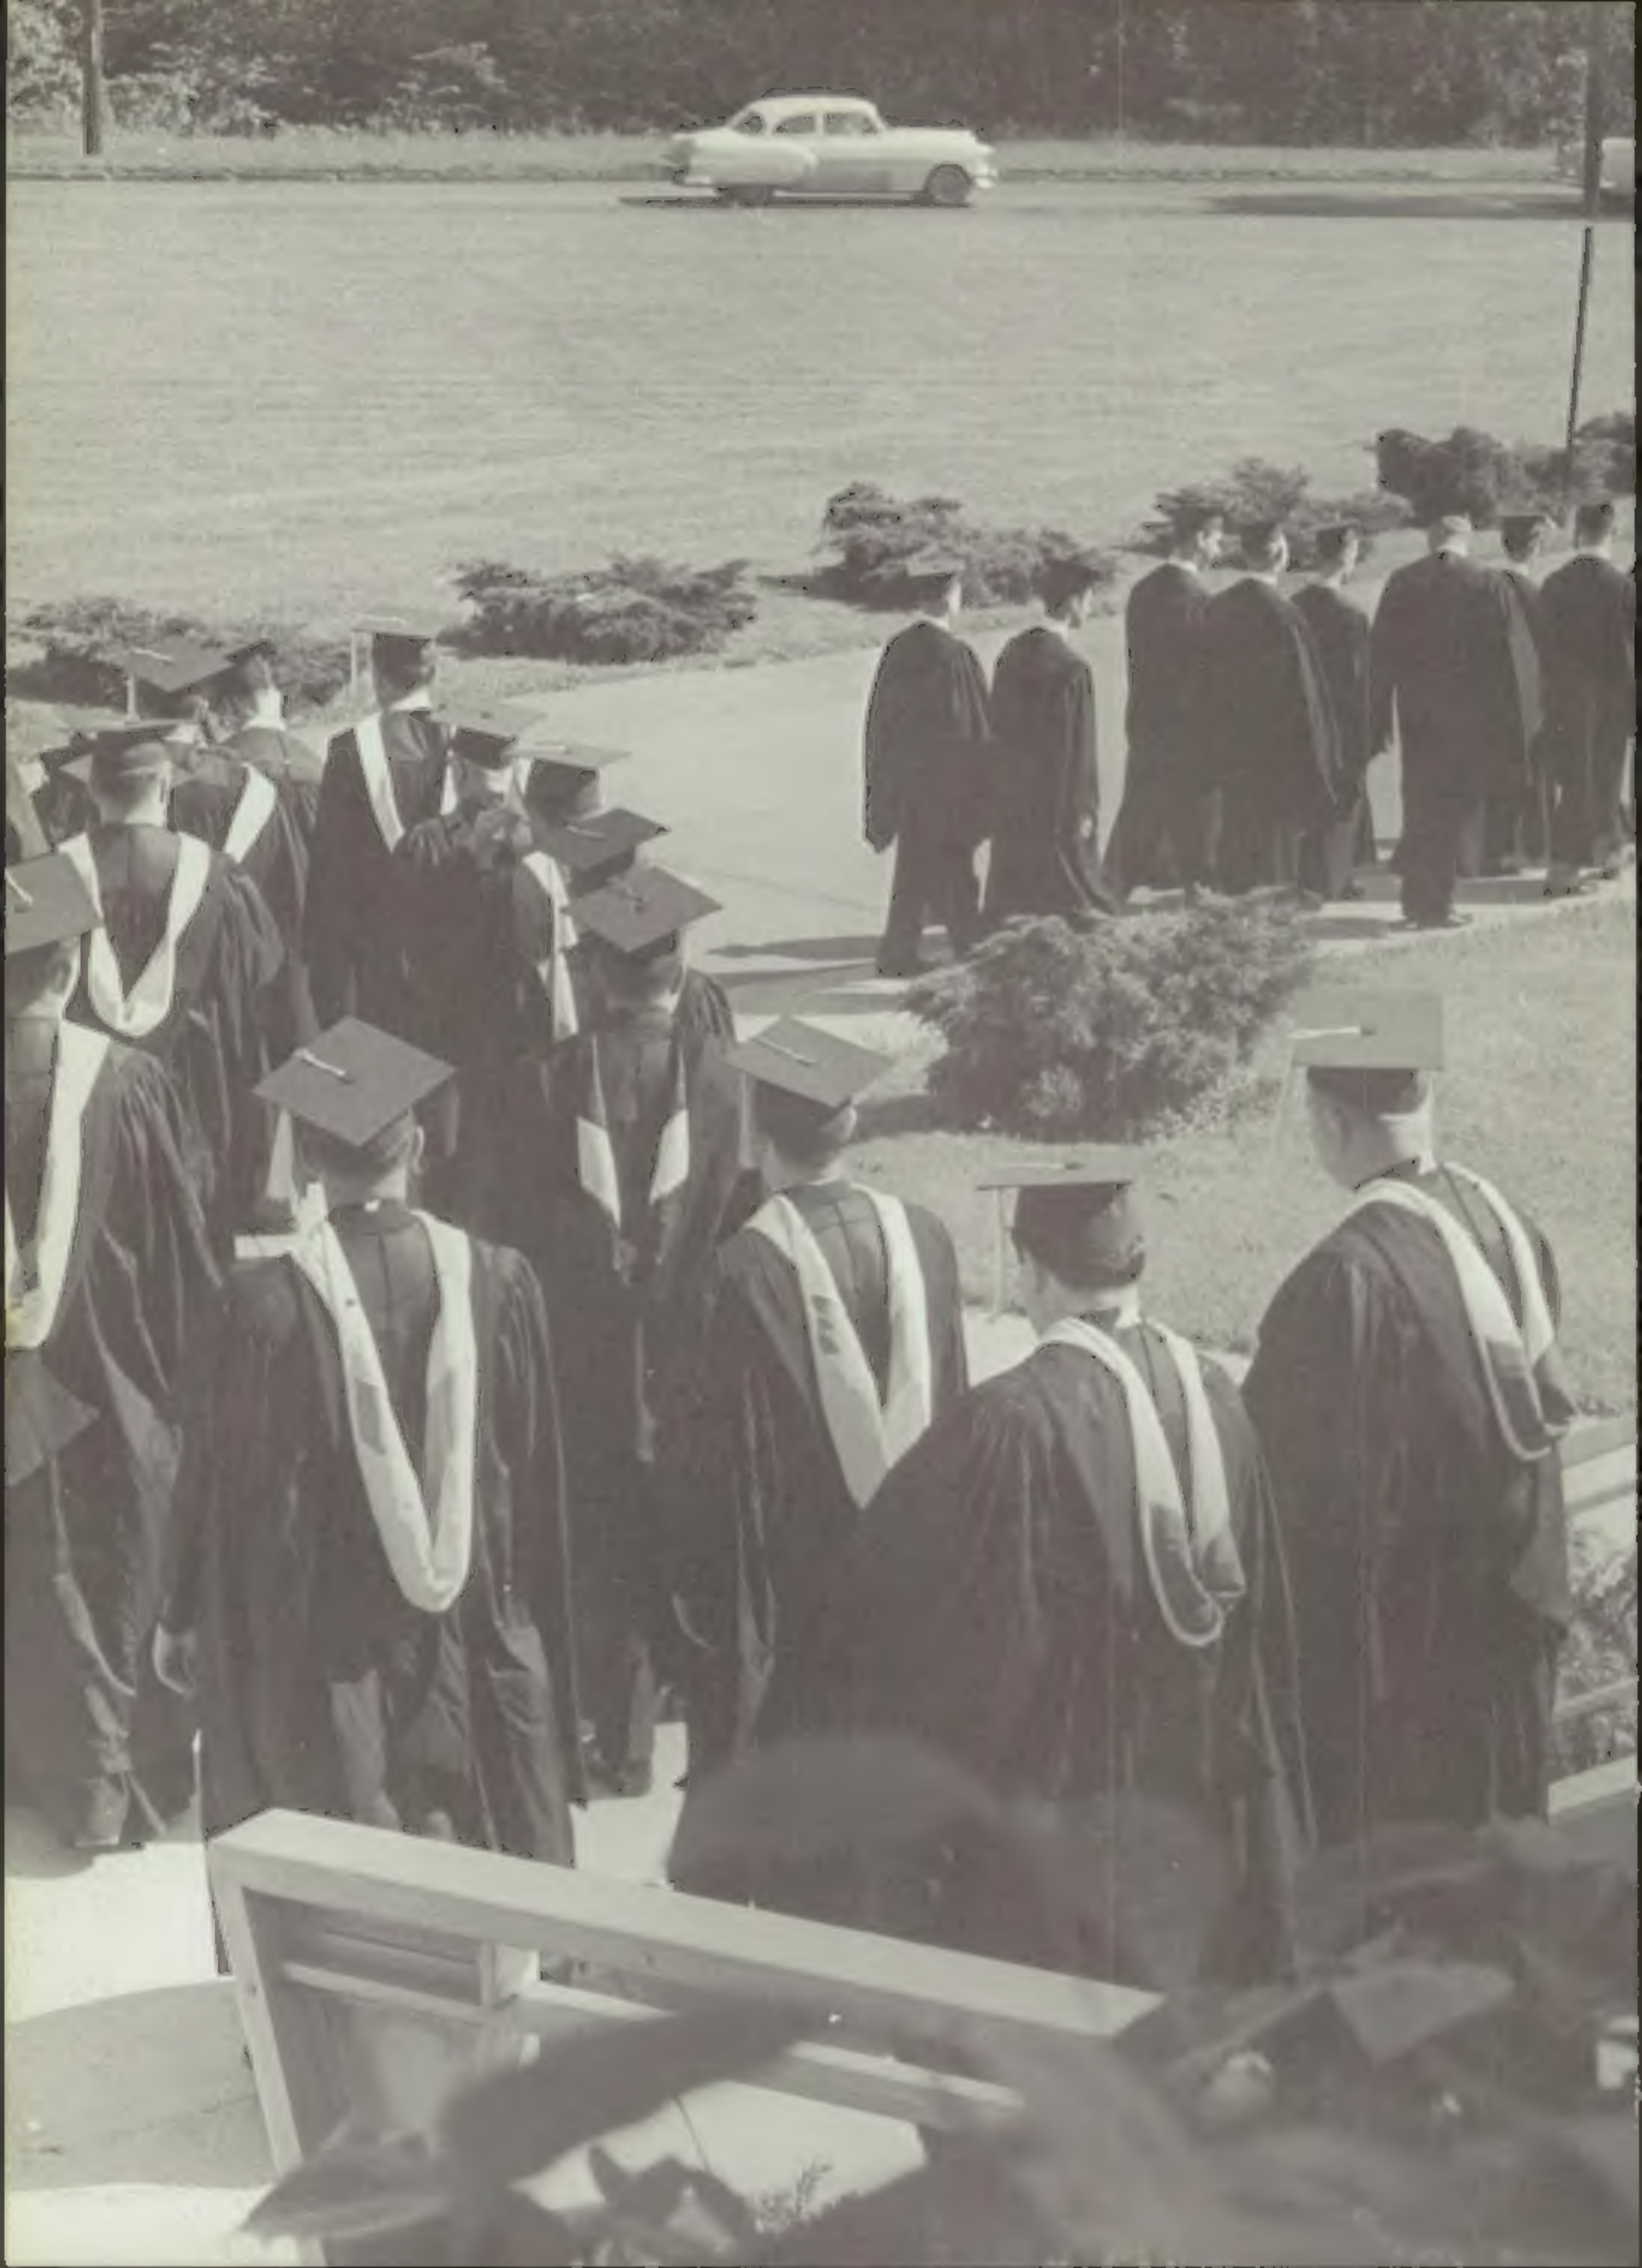

The tedious and exacting task of typing the palaver which flowed from our pens, devolved on Phil Pollick and Denny Chojnacki, our amanuenses.

The pictorial part of our book was ably shouldered by Mr. Richard Greene of the Toledo Blade and Tim O'Reilly, our student photographer, whose assistance proved invaluable.

Finally and probably the most important cog in our group was Father McNamara. His demeanor not only gave us a touch of respectability but also was the stabilizing factor in our often gay assemblage. We are indebted to him for his guidance and encouragement. Since we were neophytes in publishing such a résumé, we appreciated this help immensely.

Finally, constantly above us and before us was the image of our crucified Lord. From him radiated the graces necessary in our many times of crisis and to Him we turn now in grateful thanksgiving.
